HEALTH SERVICES PROVIDED
FOR PIONEER VILLAGE OF PELEDUY

Soviet pioneers have established Peleduy, a new community along the banks of the Lena River, 7,000 kilometers from Moscow. Many sanitation and medical problems confront the medical personnel assigned to this undeveloped region. The medical services of the community are under supervision of N. S. Kotel'nikov.

The hospital and polyclinic is able to render all types of assistance and contains various physiotherapeutic apparatus, powerful X-ray equipment, a complete clinical laboratory and a dental laboratory. Most of the cases which enter the hospital and polyclinic are trauma cases, caused by accidents at lumber enterprises. Plans for 1949 call for the organization of an all-night clinic for workers.
